One of the members of the Pa New family is enjoying his first roasting ears of the season today at his home. The corn came from the garden of A. F. Arnold of Enon Valley. The Arnold family have been enjoying cabbage and many other garden products for some little time.

Both the alternate route 422 on Taylor street and Jefferson street as well as East Washington street, the regular 422 experienced an unprecedented amount of traffic over the Fourth of July week end. The detour on route 19 at Dixie Inn brought an influx of motorists to the city who were traveling in and out of the Pittsburgh area.

Many farmers about the area failed to observe Monday as a holiday. Many of the tillers of the soil were seen in the fields cultivating their corn and performing other tasks in connection with their farm duties.

Black raspberries are to be found in large quantities in the Enon Valley section of the county. Red raspberries also are making their appearance. Elderberries are not yet ripe.

Many residents, despite the fire-works ban, secured from some source large quantities of fireworks over the fourth holiday period. Large canon sized crackers were set off in almost every section of the city.

Vicious, Unpredicted Storm Hits New York Many Boats Are Lost

NEW YORK, July 5.—(INS)—Coast Guard and police boats and planes scoured Long Island Sound today for some 40 pleasure craft feared lost in a vicious, unpredicted squall yesterday.

The 50-mile-an-hour gale lashed the New York area late yesterday afternoon, covering Manhattan with dust, ripping trees and shrubs, and leaving at least seven persons drowned.

Six died in boating accidents in Long Island Sound. The seventh victim, nine-year-old William Daugherty, was blown into the Local Community Swelters Under Three Days In Nineties

LITTLE RELIEF IS PROMISED

Residents of New Castle and Lawrence county sweltered over the Fourth of July holiday period as temperatures which reached up into the upper 90's were recorded.

The official top temperature yesterday was clocked at 96 degrees at the official recording station at the water plant, and Sunday it stood at 95. This was in the shade of course. Other thermometers registered higher marks, but these were the official readings. Saturday's high was 91 degrees.

Local folks really suffered from the heat and all sorts of make-shifts were used to try and beat Old Sol to the punch, but they were of little avail.

There was a fairly good breeze all day on the Fourth, but there was little coolness in the stirring air as it moved over the parched landscape.

Little relief was looked for today, and marks approximating yesterday's high was indicated this morning.

With the last of the Fourth of July week end travelers on their way home the nation's holiday toll soared close to the 700 mark today after already setting an all-time record.

Traffic accidents, drownings, fires, heat fatalities and other mishaps climbed dizzily past the 670 mark as temperatures near 100 accompanied the three-day holiday week-end.

(By International News Service)

The nation's holiday death toll surpassed an all-time record and climbed dizzily past the 650 mark today with homebound Fourth of July motorists still clogging the highways.

A torrid blanket of heat accompanied the three-day holiday weekend, engulfing the country and swelling the number of deaths by drowning and adding heat prostration victims to the death total.

Traffic fatalities accounted for 282 deaths, while 230 persons drowned and 132 died in plane crashes, murders, fires and miscellaneous accidents.

The latest count showed 47 persons had been killed in New York, 13 in traffic accidents, 25 by drowning, and 11 in miscellaneous accidents. Pennsylvania followed with 45 deaths, including 16 drownings, three in plane crashes, and 19 in highway accidents.

Meanwhile, motorists started home from prolonged weekends and local officials feared further traffic tieups this morning.

In contrast to the heat over most of the country, Northern California was unseasonably cool, with some San Franciscans donning topcoats in 50-degree temperatures.

New England reported 44 persons dead in traffic accidents, 15 drownings and 14 deaths from miscellaneous causes.

There's some freckles on her nose and where she wore scanty clothes, there's an area of sunburn red and bright, but she must enjoy the Fourth, for the fun that it was worth, though she spent a rather sleepless, warmish night. There were powders three or four, and some lotions for the sore sunburned areas she's sporting now and say, down her back and on her neck it is cherry red by heck, and the weather's up to ninety-six today.

worst disaster in New York waters of this century. At Larchmont harbor, 77 small boats turned over almost simultaneously but all 385 persons aboard were saved. At New Rochelle harbor some 80 boats capsized, but no deaths were reported.

Storm Hit At 4:10 P. M.

The sudden storm struck at about 4:10 p. m. (EDT) yesterday. Gale winds picked up dust from the area, parched by 39 days of drought, hurled a gritty, black dust cloud over the city. Baseball games at Ebbets field and Yankee stadium were halted.

Just a few minutes before the storm hit, New York had registered its record heat for the year—96.7 degrees. Within an hour the thermometer dropped 15 degrees and a few drops of rain fell briefly.

Coast Guard picket boats and an airplane worked frantically throughout the night. All available police craft and volunteers joined in the search for survivors. At least two private planes crashed in the water.

street are considering petitioning Congress for another holiday to get caught up on the sleep they missed the past three nights.

Until four o'clock this morning Washington street sounded like a radio version of the Indianapolis speedway on Memorial Day.

Amazingly enough, there were no accidents save a few permanent waves in fenders and a few more cases of jitters as cars had near-misses.

In New Castle the Fourth was celebrated mostly by family picnics, visiting relatives from here and there, and porch swing conventions. Bessemer and Volant did the day up in the old style with programs, speeches and the usual whoop-de-doo that accompanies such celebrations.

Park Crowded

Cascade Park was crowded all day long, and at 10 o'clock Monday night the parking lot was crowded and the overflow spread for blocks around.

For concessionaires in parks and highways the days of the gold rush were re-enacted. The weather drew folks from their homes and then gave them thirsts for soft drinks and appetites for hot dogs.

The old-time boom-boom of firecrackers was partly missing, but the kids made up for it with sparklers, flares and various other nearly harmless forms of pyrotechnics. Here and there hardy souls risked the wrath of the law by sneaking in real fireworks.

Police were inactive, state police had plenty of traffic duty, but no fatalities. In short, it was a Fourth to be remembered for plenty of heat, plenty of sunburn, plenty of traffic and no rain.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The traditionally vexing problem of minorities, cause of countless wars, intruded itself sharply on Austrian peace treaty negotiations.

The Big Four deputies meeting in London under vigorous instructions to draft a pact by Sept. 1 at the latest, wrangled over the manner in which their superiors dealt with the question during their recent Paris meeting.

The United States, Great Britain and France hold that all that is needed regarding minorities is a simple declaration that Austria will be expected to guarantee freedom of the Croats and Slovenes who live under Vienna rule.

Soviet Russia, on the other hand, demands a detailed list of specifications and specifications, presumably to cover all aspects of minority freedom, including language, education, equal opportunity and all the rest.

Seeming Coincidence
By a seeming coincidence that might not have been all chance, coming at just about the same time the U. S. government formally accused Russia of disregarding the human rights provisions of the Balkan peace treaties.

Russia maintains that the matter of religious and political suppression is a purely domestic matter and flatly refuses to debate the issue.

The issue affecting Austria and Russia's stubborn refusal to lift the curtain on her oppressions in Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria provide another of those contradictions that have plagued East-West relations since the end of the war.

On the basis of her own performances, Russia seems hardly qualified to insist that a bill of particulars should be drawn up regarding Austria's treatment of her minorities.

Particularly True
This is particularly true because of the fact that even in the days of the Hapsburgs, the smaller racial groups in Austria probably were happier and better treated than in any other country of eastern Europe.

The Croats and the Slovenes were permitted to retain their own ethnic groups, customs and languages and except for the army, which in the officers corps at least were restricted to the aristocracy, there was little discrimination.

Today, high Austrian officials declare in answer to Yugoslavians' demand for Slovene Carinthia that not a single Slav resident of the area has asked for permission to emigrate to the land of Tito's dictatorship.

Nor have the Germanic Austrians the slightest desire to associate themselves with what remains of the Reich. Their experience with Hitlerian annexation was quite enough.

Comprehension Difficult
In contrast to Austria's traditionally benign rule over the small population groups, Russia's recent determination to perpetuate iron rule over all her own people and her neighbors makes the London demand difficult to comprehend.

Present day Communism expansionism actually violates the fundamental precepts of original Bolshevism.

When the Czar was dethroned in 1917 the Communists took power, they magnanimously gave freedom to Finland, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia as well as other territories and populations.

For years these nations thrived

Exchange Ideas
Such is the type of farm boy going to live this summer among farm folk of Europe and to exchange ideas and experiences with them, a worthy messenger of international goodwill. The countries to be visited include Belgium, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Ireland, Netherlands, Norway and Sweden.

For each boy or girl going to Europe from the United States another youth comes here from Europe to visit among farm families of America representing different European countries. According to the rules of this International Farm Youth Exchange Project each state or organization that sends a delegate overseas must agree to underwrite the financial costs to the extent of a minimum of $500 and a maximum of $1,000.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A few weeks ago I wrote a tribute to the Alleghenies as seen from the porch of the Fort Bedford Inn after a bounteous breakfast.

That column brought me a lot of mail indicating that people, after all, do not live by bread alone but appreciate the beauties of nature.

So you will forgive me, I hope, if today I do a little piece about the Catskill Mountains of New York State as seen with the eyes and the heart of the Rev. F. J. Fitch, Minister of the Lakeside Methodist Church, of Muskegon, Mich., an old Catskiller, who went back there last October to visit his mother, "who had just passed the eighty-second milestone."

Frankly I had never seen the Catskills that way, although I had passed through them many a time. Perhaps they are too close to my own home. Perhaps I could not see the forests for the thousands and thousands of "she's too fat for me" ladies who roam these mountains during the summer months, dressed in slacks that would look much better on a bushel of potatoes.

However, the next time I drive through the Catskills again, I shall try to see them as William Herbert Carruth saw them, according to the Rev. Mr. Fitch, who quotes the poet as follows:

"A haze on the far horizon,
An infinite tender sky,
The ripe rich tint of the cornfields
And wild geese sailing high,
And all over upland and lowland
The charm of the goldenrod:
Some people call it Autumn,
But others call it God."

And so I am back on religion, that subject which I pledged myself to leave alone because it is so controversial, and yet a subject on which I get more mail than on any other one—unless it be popovers.

Only a few days ago a reader wrote: "Please don't ever stop writing about religion. We need living interpretation so badly. We need someone who can explain it to us and make us live it when so many happenings confuse us in these troubled days."

But back to the Rev. Mr. Fitch and the Catskills. He goes on:

"Words do not suffice to describe the indescribable beauty of the mountains. It is as though some winged giant had mixed the rainbow in the crucible of time and sprinkled Nature with the contents. Harry Emerson Fosdick, in his book 'A Pilgrimage to Palestine,' describes the flowers of lovely Galilee as 'beautiful to the point of tears.' I thought of that as I looked across the hills and valleys, covered with a fascination that brought me back again and again to the out-of-doors."

"I thought of the Psalmist's words 'God reigneth.' He is clothed with beauty. I thought of the song of Isaiah: 'How beautiful upon the mountains,' and the lovely lyrics of Ecclesiastes 'He has made everything beautiful in His time.'"

Thought of the injunction of the Singer of Israel: 'Worship the Lord in the beauty of Holiness.'"

I wish I had space to quote much more from the letter.

But I must leave you now. And may I leave you with this thought: If you falter in your religion, if you wonder whether your God is really your living God—come out of your shop, your office, your kitchen and look at your mountains, your valleys, your prairies, your sea and your lakes.

There you will find God, the God with whom to live every day and every moment in the fullest sense of the word. You will find religion unfolded in all its glory.

MY DESERT HOME
I live far out on the desert plains
Where the road goes on forever
And as far away as my eyes can see
Does that road turn back? No never.
Just on and thru the distant fields
Of flowers and grass and sod.
It's paved with the sands of eternity.
It's the road that leads to God.
There is something that speaks
From the big out of doors
In a voice that is sweet and clear.
And just what it says in its secret code
Only those on the desert can hear.
But I'd rather live out where the sun shines bright,
Even out on the plains alone.
Where the jack rabbit hides 'neath a friendly bush
And the night winds howl and moan.
Than to live in a city of a million lights.
Where folks eat breakfast at noon.
Where the day begins at 6 p. m.
And morning comes too soon.
So here I stay in my desert home,
Thank God for the privilege to be.
Out where the fragrant wild flowers grow
And the night birds sing to me.
There are many things worse, a thousand times,
Than living out here alone.
For at night I lie down with a conscience clear
In the place I call home sweet home.

Johnson And B-36 Probe

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—Silence has been the forceful strategy of Defense Secretary Louis Johnson as the House investigation of the B-36 contract draws nigh. I am able to report from the best of sources that the silence is one of complete confidence.

The big, smiling Secretary, one of the most successful lawyers in America, has a tight case for rebuttal against charges made by Rep. Van Zandt, his chief accuser. The Johnson case, as it will probably develop in the hearings, runs something like this:

Fed Begun Long Ago
Although the men are not personally acquainted, the Johnson-Van Zandt feud began long ago and involved some points of difference over the payment of veterans' bonuses. Van Zandt, former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was for making heavy demands on the government.

Johnson, past commander of the American Legion, wanted the vets to get instead of coming to them. His best bet was as war service, the very best he was able to give under the circumstances.

As pre-Pearl Harbor days, Johnson specialized in setting up industrial programs for the manufacture of aircraft. When he resigned from the War Department, Johnson became director of Consolidated Aircraft Corp., Johnson's own company.

Johnson's advice before signing the final papers.

Different Set of Reasons
There is another and entirely different set of reasons for the strategy of silence thus far followed by Secretary Johnson. The feeling seems to have been that the anti-Johnson forces would eventually cook their own goose by making foolish mistakes. This Rep. Van Zandt and others have obligingly done on two counts.

First, they have made the mistake of over-emphasizing the large campaign donations made by Floyd Odium, chairman of Consolidated Vultee and others. As finance chairman of the national Democratic committee, Johnson's job to solicit and receive campaign contributions. But, as Johnson turned out, it was the small voluntary contributions which forecast the outcome of last year's incredible election. I have had the opportunity to go over the donation lists and the accompanying letters from persons who chipped in their mite to the Truman cause. These letters make rather tear-jerking reading, not the kind to picture Johnson in the bad light that his accusers wish.

Second Mistake
And the second overt mistake by the anti-Johnson group has been the reliance on anonymous documents. This underhanded method of attack almost, chairman backfires on the users. Chairman Vinson of the House armed services committee, Steve Early, Johnson's good right arm, to investigate the source of such documents. The best educated guess around town is that they were prepared by certain pro-Navy pressure groups. This, if it turns out to be true, will be the best possible argument for the kind of unification which Secretary Johnson is trying to effect.

All in all, the B-36 investigation seems to have brought Johnson to an important stage of his brief career as defense secretary. If he comes off well, as seems highly probable, he will be on solid ground to march forward toward some real achievement in unification. It is a consummation much to be desired.

"Secret Enemies" Of Plan

WASHINGTON, July 5. SOME days ago, after an unexplained interval of complete inactivity for more than a month, the House Armed Services Committee began hearings on the National Security Act amendments of 1949, known as the Tydings bill. In the judgment of most informed men, this is the most important piece of domestic legislation that has come before Congress in a long time.

ITS progress from now on should deeply concern every man and woman in the country who wants to cut down governmental waste and restore health to the exceedingly sick Federal finances. Recent polls in various sections of the country convincingly show that a heavy majority of citizens favor these objectives. If the last chance to regain control of our now almost unmanageable fiscal affairs is not to be irretrievably lost this is the time for these citizens to make their feeling known by whatever means they can contrive. For the Tydings bill comes pretty close to being the heart of the Hoover report on reorganization of the executive branch of the Government. It passed the Senate on May 26 without a dissenting vote, and ever since has been hung up in the House. Its failure now would be a national calamity.

CONSIDERING the unanimity of the Senate action; considering its endorsement by President Truman and a long list of experts, in and out of the Government, including ex-President Hoover, former Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson; W. Stuart Symington, Secretary of Air; Kenneth Royall, former Secretary of War; Gordon Gray, present Secretary of the Hoover report task force; considering also the overwhelming endorsement of the bill by men of the highest caliber that of the 3 1/2 to 4 billion dollar reduction of the complete Hoover recommendations, 15 to 20 percent in any way weakening our defense machine—couple all this with the vital need for national economy and increased productivity and it seems inexcusable that this bill should bog down at this stage.

YET some of its leading advocates believe it in real danger. All parts of the Hoover program are naturally opposed by the Federal jobholders who fear consolidation, combination and elimination will sever them from the pay roll. No sensible man minimizes the potency of this opposition. Always it has been the great block to reduction in size and cost of the Federal bureaucracy. In the armed forces today there are nearly 800,000 of the more than 2,000,000 civilian employees of the Government. "It may be that these and their congressional and political sponsors are concentrating on wrecking the Tydings bill in the House, not by voting against it but by holding it in committee until too late for effective action." An early August adjournment would help such a plan.

At any rate, Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chairman of the national and non-partisan Citizens Committee, supporting the Hoover report, asserts that the Tydings bill has developed secret enemies stronger than was suspected. "Powerful forces," he declares, "are plainly engaged in a last-ditch effort to defeat a measure which would end bickering and waste in the armed services." How otherwise, he asks, can we account for the delay this bill has met in the House after its passage by the Senate without a single dissenting vote? "Dr. Johnson also made the point that Chairman Vinson's skepticism about the saving of a billion and a half dollars opposes an array of formidable authorities, who agree that the least possible saving would be a billion." This, he says, would mean approximately $20 a year for the average American family.

IN view of the extraordinary endorsement of the Tydings bill by the experts in every branch of the armed services and by the executives of all three branches, it is difficult to see how any "open fight" can be made against it. The prime purpose of the bill is to make unification effective. It gives the Secretary of Defense the essential powers he now notably lacks. It not only gives him direction authority and control of his subordinates, but it also vests in him the power to make policy decisions subject only to the President. Also, it would definitely end the chaotic situation under which the Secretaries of Army, Navy and Air can bypass the Secretary of Defense and go direct to the President.

THE great savings, of course, will come largely in the abolition of the multitude of duplicating overlapping and unnecessary boards, bureaus and commissions. "Also, by doing away with antiquated accounting methods, it will put an end to the 'budget padding' stressed by Mr. Eberstadt and his task force, which recently included such items as the $38,800 tropical uniforms at $129 apiece and 810 houses for military personnel in Alaska at $53,000 each, and of the strangely transposed budget figure which made a difference of $30,000,000.

THE points made against the bill that it would make a military dictator of the Secretary of Defense and that no one knows how to make the estimated savings are fanciful, strained and unsound. "The truth is that without this bill no real savings can be made and without the really effective. A good many industries have happened in Congress but, under all the circumstances, the failure of the Tydings bill would seem to top them all. Revelation of the danger probably will insure against that. The opposition cannot come fully out in the open, and once the alarm has been sounded it is much too big to be killed by stealth.

THE FIFTH
This morning youngsters used to wake with fingers burned and eyebrows lost. The risks we ran for freedom's sake. To us seemed worth the pain they cost. But parents all throughout the land should be banned; That proudly celebrate we might Without the use of dynamite.

FROM THE PRIME MINISTER
A surprising number of people still believe that Uncle Sam can make an old sock and a mule tin can from which he gets billions of dollars to give away and provide for the people's good. I was shocked recently to find this myth still prevailing.

In many towns of the nation there is a public forum where the congressman from the district makes an annual report by answering questions put to him by his neighbors and constituents. I recently attended one such public forum.

Many people asked questions about more gifts and appropriations. They wanted Uncle Sam to dig deeper and hurry up about it. They said that in spite of his present generosity they felt more dependent and helpless than ever.

Taken from American People
However, there were some people in the audience who showed signs of utter disillusionment. They had suffered personally enough pain to have found out the truth. They found that every dime of every billion dollars given or appropriated had been taken from the people. They no longer relied on manipulation and government.

Demonstrations Fizzle Out In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, July 5.—(INS)—Communist-sponsored "religious" demonstrations in eastern Czechoslovakia fizzled out today.

Celebrations in strongly-Catholic Moravia and Slovakia, scenes of recent rioting by indignant peasants, were roundly snubbed.

Government leaders—including premier Antonin Zapotocky—spoke at the festivities, and renewed their warnings to the Roman Catholic church.

The Vatican-outlawed "Catholic Action" committee, which Archbishop Josef Beran has disowned, organized celebrations and pilgrimages in connection with the feast of Saint Methodius and Saint Cyril, patrons of Moravia.

But observers said only a handful of local residents turned out to hear members of the Prague regime speak on behalf of the government's battle against the Catholic church.

Truckloads of workers from the big cities were reported driven to the pilgrimage centers to supply audiences.

Premier Zapotocky, cabinet members and Soviet ambassador Michail Silin attended a ceremony at the village of Devin, near the Slovakian capital of Bratislava.

Ellwood City Has Registration

ELLWOOD CITY, July 5.—During the two-day registration in the Ellwood City borough building last week, there were 513 Democrats and 139 Republicans, according to a report.

Senator Samuel G. Neff stated that the soldiers bonus and the Republican legislative action in the last session were issues instrumental in the Democratic increase in registration.

TENT MEETINGS MOVE TO FAYETTE

VFW Prepares For State Convention In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(INS)—Advance elements of the Veterans of Foreign Wars moved into Philadelphia today preparatory to the opening of the annual state VFW convention on Thursday.

Some 30,000 veterans and members of the ladies' auxiliary are expected to converge on the Quaker City for the three-day session.

One of the chief topics for discussion at the business session will be the state bonus for veterans.

The VFW is supporting the bonus which is to be voted upon by the electorate in November.

Proposed cuts in veterans administration funds, housing and foreign affairs also are listed for discussion.

Both of Pennsylvania's senators—Francis J. Myers and ex-Gov. Edward Martin—will address the convention on Saturday.

Past National VFW Commander James E. Van Zandt, now a Pennsylvania congressman, also will address the veterans at their final day's meeting.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Now that the holidays are over and I am still in one piece, I expect to spend the next fortnight and all my worldly goods trying to make the list of the ten best dressed women.

I do not covet this honor nor do I expect to be happy when I am all gussied up. But testimony in the Hiss trial has convinced me that true-blue, 100 per cent Americans are always dressed fit to kill, even as school kids.

A gent always glossed over with 5 o'clock shadow, a moll with dish pan hands, or a kid in need of a hair cut are apt to find themselves in the stocks as subversive characters, and no nonsense about it.

Many Loyalty Tests

The United States has rightfully devised a good many loyalty tests and checks, by word, deed and association, in recent years. But the Hiss trial introduced a new note, the wardrobe test.

A defense witness for Alger Hiss was called to the stand to establish the ominous fact that Whittaker Chambers, when a high school pupil, was always untidy in appearance and usually needed a haircut.

This testimony kinda confused me at first. The witness seemed to be giving a first hand description of all the boys with whom I went to school, a group conspicuous for its high percentage of Republicans and Democrats.

However, I began to get the pitch a little later when Mrs. Hiss on the witness stand described Mrs. Chambers as not "very presentable" in appearance or dress. Well, nobody every accused mama of raising any real stupid children. I get a point as quick as the next. And the moral of such testimony is as plain as day, to wit, clothes make the man.

Set Me To Wondering

It suddenly set me to wondering whether I could pass the wardrobe test. If federal operators come to the apartment and start pawing through the closets and the bureau drawers, would I wind up in the cooler or the clear?

I think my spouse would be on the alkaline sartorial side, as a Republican and snappy dresser. But I am a neat and not very gaudy Democrat. I'm afraid it's the poky for me unless I get a newer look than I got now.

Even now I can predict the new addenda on the loyalty questionnaire. It will go something like this:

"Has your picture ever been in 'Harper's Bazaar'? In 'Vogue'? In 'Esquire'?"

On Ten Best Dressed List?

"Are you on the current ten best dressed list? Have you ever made the list? If you were on the list previously and then dropped, why were you dropped?"

"Do you know Mrs. Harrison Williams? Mrs. Byron Foy? The Duchess of Windsor?"

"Does Mrs. Harrison Williams know you? Mrs. Byron Foy? The Duchess of Windsor?"

"What is your estimate of the personal appearance of Jeeter Lester? Broadway Rose? Tugboat Annie?"

"What is your opinion of Valentina? Mainbocher? Dior? Vera Maxwell? Sally Victor? Sam the two-pants man Lilly Dache? Walk up two flights and save ten bucks? Jane Derby? A brown derby?"

These are parolous times, in which it pays to be a dude and a clothes horse. I figger Beau Brummel and Lucius Beebe are the only really safe from suspicion.

I sidled into the office this morning, hoping against hope no one would report my shiny suit to the FBI before I could get up to Jacques Fath and beg him to make an honest woman of me.

My, my! It's a good thing Abraham Lincoln lived in a day before it became a political crime to be untidy.

However, if anyone is still confused as to why Chambers became a communist, I think I have the ultimate clue. The old high school chum who put the finger on Chambers said that in their salad days, Chambers was known as "Vivian", not Whittaker.

That would do it, brother, it surely would.

Robin Hood Dell Season Is Open

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(INS)—Red ink on the 1948 balance sheet was but a memory when Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell opened its music season recently with a vitally-needed face-lifting.

Aided by a city appropriation of $50,000, the amphitheater, which went broke last year, has been radically streamlined.

A new floor, new and more comfortable seating arrangement, modern amplification system, flowers in front of a renovated stage, improved methods for distributing soft-drinks and a more practical ticket policy are the latest features being offered to music lovers.

Ousted landmarks which once impaired spectators' vision include a mid-aisle light standard and a stage framing willow tree.

Plans are now being considered for improved parking facilities and special transportation for the patrons.

Falling Wall Kills Four In Pittsburgh

Weight Of Sign Coupled With Vibration Of Traffic Causes Fall

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—A rain of bricks and mortar from the top of the building collapsed and killed four pedestrians and had six others in the hospital today.

Four of the injured were in critical condition.

About 14 others escaped with minor injuries when the wall at the top of the building collapsed and buried its victims on the sidewalk. Firemen claimed the weight of a large neon sign coupled with the daily traffic vibration had weakened the two-foot high wall.

The building on Pittsburgh's North Side houses a cafe, restaurant and smoke shop. Patrons inside the building were not harmed by the tragedy last night which witnesses called a "terrifying thing."

One of the injured, Joseph Deveny, 32, said he looked up and "saw that big sign coming at me. Then the whole building seemed to come down."

"I don't know how I got out," he added.

China's Appeal Falls On Responsive Ears In Congress

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—Chiang Kai Shek's appeal for U. S. aid to stop communist aggression in China today fell on responsive ears among Senate and House foreign affairs experts.

Senators and representatives of both parties warned that unless the Red wave engulfing China is halted, all Asia and possibly India will go under the domination of the Kremlin.

In both houses demands were renewed for a full and complete picture of the Chinese situation as the generalissimo asserted in a news interview that the communists can still be beaten in China.

At the same time, Chiang asserted that if the U. S. fails to help and China is completely overrun, all Asia will fall to the Reds and a third world war will be inevitable.

In the wake of his statement, demands arose in Congress for a firm United States policy toward stopping communist aggression in China and Asia.

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—The Fourth of July week-end fatality listed totaled 20 persons today in Western Pennsylvania.

Nine died from drowning, three traffic fatalities and eight from miscellaneous causes.

WHO BEARS WHAT WEDDING EXPENSES?

"My son will soon marry a very lovely girl. He is in the Marines as are all the other men of the wedding party and they will wear their blues. As I am only the mother of the groom-to-be, I am afraid that when it comes to the expenses involved, I know nothing. If you would be so kind as to answer my questions, I would be grateful."

Answer: The bridegroom's parents are under no expense except for their present to the bride. The bridegroom buys the bride's engagement and wedding rings, of course; a wedding present for the bride, which should be something for her personal use; corsages for his own mother and the mother of the bride; his bachelor dinner; the marriage license fee; gifts to the best man and the ushers; the clergyman's fee; the bride's bouquet; all expenses of the wedding trip. Frequently the bridegroom supplies the bridesmaids' bouquets.

(2) This question is answered in the previous paragraph as is question 3.

(4) The best man on the wedding day must be at the bridegroom's house early check up on the wedding ring and have it safely in his pocket, escort the groom to the place of his marriage a full quarter of an hour before the ceremony begins. After arriving there, he must take charge of the groom's hat and coat and place them where they will be at hand when he needs them after the ceremony. He must pay the clergyman's fee (given him by the groom) sealed in an envelope. He must escort the maid-of-honor to the bride's home or wherever the reception will take place.

The ushers should greet arriving guests, escorting the women and seating them according to directions—the bride's family and friends on the left side (as you face the altar), the groom's on the right. When the bride's mother has been seated (she should be the last person seated) and the processional is about to begin, they should go to the back of the church and take their places in line with the others in the wedding party. The ushers should head the processional. After the recessional is over, the ushers should hurry back to escort to the church door the women who occupied the first pews—the bride's mother first, the bridegroom's mother next; then the other occupants of the first pews on each side. Each usher should take a bridesmaid to the wedding breakfast and later escort her home, unless she has someone else to do so.

Hunt Double Murder Suspect

Rape Is Also Charged To Man Sought For Murders In California

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 5.—(INS)—A Fourth of July double murder and rape mystery near Glen Ellen touched off a statewide manhunt today for a merchant marine officer.

The two murder victims were men whose nude bodies were found lying in front of a summer cabin of which Mrs. Eva Paget, 27, of Berkeley, was beaten, assaulted and bound to a tree following the slayings.

The ship's officer suspected of committing all the three attacks was described by Mrs. Paget, from a hospital bed, as a friend of one of the two murdered men.

He is believed to have fled in an automobile belonging to one of the slain men, Peter John Flint, of Richmond, Calif. The other dead man was Peter J. Jensen, owner of the cabin and a gardener at the Sonoma State hospital.

Mrs. Paget told interrogators that Flint, a merchant marine lieutenant, was a long-time friend of hers.

The young mother of two small children stumbled up to a group of picnicers at Glen Ellen yesterday. Nearly nude, she gasped out her story and then collapsed.

She was taken to Sonoma Community hospital in Santa Rosa, where she underwent treatment, including surgery, for multiple lacerations. Doctors said she would recover, although her injuries were severe.

SUFFERS BURNS

Mike Fugus, 23, 1030 Court St., suffered second degree burns of his left forearm Sunday at 3 p. m., when the steam from his auto radiator escaped while he was taking off the radiator cap.

He was treated at the New Castle Hospital and later discharged.

leadership among American farm youth.

2. To develop a positive, constructive program of education for American farm youth in the field of international relations and world peace.

3. To contribute toward better international understanding of the problems of world peace.

4. To provide opportunity for representatives of American farm youth to see and experience the life and culture of rural people in foreign countries.

5. To provide opportunity for American farm families to extend hospitality to farm youth representatives from European countries and thereby develop a better understanding of their problems, attitudes, talents and contributions to society.

6. To provide opportunity for exchange of other cultural and citizenship experiences. And what a fine education it will be to the young men and women who are the representatives of their respective countries. Besides, it should give to the 4-H Clubs and similar organizations in the United States an added meaning making them more and more attractive to the farm youth of tomorrow.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

ment morphine that hid the taxes and killed the pain.

When the government proposed another billion dollars for this and for that they no longer nonchalantly visualized the size of a billion dollars end to end around the world. Nor did they remind each other that a billion is a thousand millions, just to get some idea of how much the other fellow was being soaked.

They figured that since there are about one hundred forty million people or thirty-five million families in the United States, four members to the family, who must pay all of Uncle Sam's gifts and appropriations, that when another billion dollar government appropriation is announced, all that any breadwinner needs do is to close his eyes and say: "That means seven bucks for me; seven for my wife, seven for each of my children, or twenty-eight smackers for the family. That is a month's rent!" And so, when the government says five billion six hundred million dollars for foreign aid, that means $156.80 for the family or five and six-tenths months' rent.

Simple as That

It is as simple as that, and sure as death for everybody.

If the government takes your rent money from you every time it takes a billion from all the people, of course, you can't pay your rent. Millions of people can't pay their rent. So the government hides the fact that it took your rent money, robbing the little rental property owner, to give it back to you.

Since World War I, it has been taken from all of us, to be given or loaned abroad ninety-two billion two hundred million dollars or seven and one-half years' rent. So every time the government says one billion for this and that, instead of looking into the moon, or supposing that somebody else paid the bill, you can appraise its real proportions by saying: "Twenty-eight bucks for the family!"

In that way you can figure what's happening to you every month by the withholding tax and by the prices for rent, and food, and education, and health, and automobiles and gasoline. All of which contains the hidden taxes.

Take a Good Look

Many congressmen are advising their constituents to take a good look. They see no end to the tide of taxes until the people get wise to the deceptions, to the out and out fraud by which money is extracted from them. There will probably be no relief until there is a taxpayers' strike or rebellion of a widespread character. The myth of Uncle Sam's billions coming from his old sock must end. The people must know the truth. Then they will act.

"Communism is not only a creed. It is a plan of campaign. A Communist is not only the holder of certain opinions; he is the pledged adept of a well-thought-out means of enforcing them. The anatomy of discontent and revolution has been studied in every phase and aspect, and a veritable drill book prepared in a scientific spirit for subverting all existing conditions. The method of enforcement is as much a part of the Communist faith as the doctrine itself. At first the time-honored principles of Liberalism and Democracy are invoked to shelter the infant organism. Free speech, the right of public meeting, every form of political agitation and constitutional right are paraded and asserted. Alliance is sought with every popular movement towards the left."

An early form of jury in England, the Grand Assize, was instituted by Henry II to try titles of land. The jury was composed of "lawful knights, girt with swords."

Reports '52-20 Clubs' Celebrators Hurt By Firecrackers

Two Fourth of July celebrators were injured by flares and firecrackers over the weekend accord-

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., indicated today that the veterans "52-20 club" will be permitted to die July 25 despite efforts to extend it for two years more.

The chairman of the House Veterans committee said he is opposed to continuing the $20 weekly unemployment benefits for jobless World War II Veterans. He added: "I rather think the majority of the committee feels like I do. I doubt that there's much chance to get it continued. As far as I'm concerned, I would let this provision of the GI Bill of Rights terminate July 25."

"I never favored it in the first place. It was the Senate which put it into the GI Bill of Rights. By guaranteeing a jobless veteran $20 a week for 52 weeks, you pamper one crowd and discriminate against those who went back to work. The question is whether you're going to encourage people to sit down or are you going to encourage thrift."

Rep. Huber (D) Ohio, and other committee members have been pressing for a continuation of the 52-20 law to enable veterans who become jobless to receive federal benefits.

The cost of jobless benefits for veterans reached $3,550,287,897 by April 30 and is expected to top four billion dollars by July 25.

Hotel Greeters Assemble Here

Annual Conference Of State Organization Is Held At The Castleton

OFFICERS NAMED FOR COMING YEAR

Hotel Greeters Of Pennsylvania took part of their Fourth of July weekend attending the annual conference in New Castle.

Saturday afternoon the group elected officers in The Castleton hotel, attended the annual dinner Saturday night and enjoyed an outing on the Slippery Rock Sunday afternoon.

Mark Swager, President

Mark Swager of the Penn-Harris in Harrisburg was named president of Charter 41, succeeding Ed Paulson of the William Penn of Pittsburgh. Jack Seymour was named secretary. Miss Margaret Nolan of Pittsburgh was named president of the Women's Division and Suzanne Duvre of Pittsburgh the secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. O'Brien of The Castleton were the hosts for the two-day meeting and welcomed the guests early Saturday afternoon. At seven o'clock the annual dinner was held in the ball room, with about 50 present.

Howard Klebe, resident agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was the principal speaker. In an interesting fashion Mr. Klebe described the work of the FBI, stressing the fact that it was an investigative, not a prosecution bureau.

"The FBI merely gathers evidence of law violation," said Mr. Klebe. "Our duty ends when we have presented a full report of the violation to the prosecuting arm of the Federal government. We do not prosecute we merely investigate. Naturally, in the course of a trial our agents testify in the cases, but this merely to give the jury the complete story as they find it."

J. C. Wachtman

J. C. Wachtman, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, spoke also. He welcomed the Greeters to New Castle and spoke on the advantages of New Castle.

Mr. Wachtman reminded the Greeters that each of them was an ambassador of good will not alone for his particular hotel, but for the city in which he was located.

The new officers were installed by James Brown of the Exchange Hotel of Franklin, Pa. Following the installation, Joseph J. O'Brien, manager of The Castleton, spoke briefly upon the program for Sunday afternoon and expressed his pleasure at the Greeters having selected New Castle as their gathering point for the 1949 conference.

Late Sunday the guests left for the various cities in Pennsylvania in which they are located.

Alger Hiss Trial

In Final Week

NEW YORK, July 5.—(INS)—The Alger Hiss perjury trial goes into its sixth, and probably final week today, with the government expected to end its rebuttal of defense testimony by tonight.

Indications are that the Federal court jury of ten men and two women will get the case by Friday. The defense will call "a few" witnesses in rebuttal tomorrow, and closing arguments will be completed Thursday or Friday.

The lean, handsome former high State department official faces a five-year prison term and $20,000 fine on each of two counts of the perjury indictment.

Some 60 witnesses have now appeared for both sides, supporting or denying details of Whitaker Chambers' story that in 1938 he got Secret State department documents from Hiss for relay into Soviet spy channels.

The defense rested its case Friday after a vain attempt to impugn Chambers' credibility by a psychiatric attack on his personality.

Record Tax Paid Here Last Year

Pittsburgh District Shows Increase As Other Areas Decline

Stanley Granger, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh district, representing 24 western Pennsylvania counties, including Lawrence county, stated today that the total taxes paid in his office during the fiscal year amounted to $1,262,572,919.97.

Individual income payments comprise about three quarters of the total paid in the 24 counties. Mr. Granger stated, these taxpayers contributing more than a billion and a quarter dollars during the 1948-49 fiscal year. It was the third highest in the history of the office. Mr. Granger explained that the overall figures included liquor, employment, corporation, income, and various other industrial types, totalling 85 in all. The Internal Revenue Office's 800 employees have recorded billion dollar collections since 1944, the 1946 total of one billion 405 and a half million, being the highest.

While the office of the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue indicates a drop in collections throughout the country of approximately 20 per cent, collections in the Pittsburgh district increased. The figures include collections made at the close of business at 5 p. m., June 30.

Returns From European Trip

Attends Nurses Convention In Stockholm, Sweden; Visits Other Countries

Miss Elaine Bollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bollard of 518 East Garfield avenue, returned Sunday from a month's trip to Europe. Miss Bollard, head nurse at the University hospital of Cleveland, Ohio, was a delegate at the International Council for Nurses which met at Stockholm, Sweden, from June 12 to 16. Thirty-five countries were represented, and over four thousand delegates were present. Sailing from New York on May 25, the first stop was England. After spending a week in England and Scotland, she continued on to Sweden for the convention. Norway was second in the list of Scandinavian countries to be visited.

Traveling to Germany, Miss Bollard toured Hamburg, of which eighty percent is still in destruction. Paris, France proved to be quite fascinating to the traveler, and many ancient, historical places of interest were viewed. Before leaving for home, a tour of Belgium was taken, with Brussels as the major city visited.

On June 25, Miss Bollard sailed from La Harve, France, and landed in New York on July 1. She left this morning to resume her duties at the University hospital, Cleveland.

Robber Wounds Bus Driver In Holdup Attempt

TRENTON, N. J., July 5.—(INS)

A bus driver was wounded by a bullet today when he leaped at an armed robber who tried to hold him up in Ewing Twp., near Trenton.

Richard Gilmore, 47, of Trenton was seated in his parked vehicle when the thug pointed a pistol at him and ordered him to turn off the lights.

Gilmore complied and then leaped at the robber. In the struggle, the gun discharged and the bullet grazed Gilmore's leg. He drove to nearby Mercer hospital for treatment.

Want Long And Happy Life? Then Get Married

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—To live a long and happy—an at least eventful life, get married.

That's the advice of experts who can show you facts and figures to prove that married persons live longer, and they have fewer mental breakdowns.

"Marriage," says Dr. Clifford R. Adams, marriage counselor at Penn State college, "is a tension reliever."

The reason: The married person can talk things over with his mate. It may not solve the problem, but it helps you get the problem off your chest.

Mental Illness Lower
And if you sometimes think the trials and tribulations of marriage are driving you nuts, the records show the ration of mental illness among married people is only one-half that of widowed, and one-fourth that of single persons.

Furthermore, it isn't true, just because the divorce rate is high, that married couples aren't generally happy.

Dr. M. C. Elmer, head of the Sociology department of the University of Pittsburgh, finds that actually 80 per cent of married people are not only satisfied but really happy.

The married person generally lives a more regulated life than the bachelor or spinster. The married person gets a better rounded diet and keeps more regular hours. Of course, children are a care to most parents, often exposing the married person to some worries. But the marriage experts claim no one is completely free of worry, but that it is easier to face a crisis when you have someone standing at your side.

As Dr. Elmer puts it: "The married person usually has a mental crutch to lean on when he needs it."

Just be sure you pick out the right crutch, that's all.

Dr. And Mrs. Crooks Leave For Florida

This afternoon, Dr. E. A. Crooks, retired pastor of Reformed Presbyterian church, Oak street, and Mrs. Crooks, left for Orlando, Fla., to make their future own. At Pittsburgh, they will be joined by Mrs. Crooks' two sisters, Mary and Martha Wilson, who have resided for many years in Pittsburgh, having come there from Ireland. They will also reside with Rev. and Mrs. Crooks at Orlando.

John Crooks of Newton Falls, Ohio, Dr. Crooks' son, will operate the car taking the party to Florida.

British Flier Races Sound

London, (INS)—A six-mile-high race with sound is planned by ace test pilot Trevor "Wimpy" Wade in an effort to be the first British pilot to burst through the barrier of sound in level flight as a normal operation.

Future British Royal Air Force fliers will be trained on the knowledge gained by Wade. He will use a Hawker Interceptor P1052, which recently made a record flight from London to Paris at 618 m.p.h. The plane is believed to be capable of another 100 m.p.h. in good weather conditions.

Wade has selected a height of 50,000 feet at which the speed of sound is 660 m.p.h.—80 m.p.h. slower than at sea level.

Undeveloped Tests

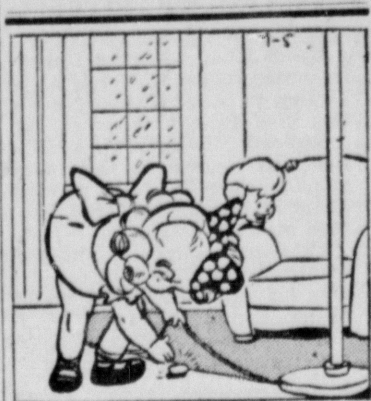

The Hawker is still undergoing preliminary speed trials but Wade said he had not yet reached the 700 m.p.h. mark. He plans to increase speed gradually until he reaches the dangerous sound speed.

The next series of "fighters" to succeed the Meteor and Vampire planes will be capable of speeds in the 700 m.p.h. class, and their pilots will have become used to flying and fighting at supersonic speed as a normal experience.

Test pilot John Derry already has dived in a De Havilland through the sound-speed barrier. The Hawker is expected to beat supersonic speed without the need to dive.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Domestic Treasure Hunts

Children, young and old, and grown-ups, too, enjoy household treasure hunts. Of course, the hunt is one of the best-known pastimes, but there are many variations that can be rung in.

Usually such activities are saved for parties. Yet they're "just what the doctor ordered" for a rainy afternoon or as part of the fun for a family at-home night.

In addition to hiding peanuts, jelly-beans, or other treats in all sorts of places around the house, older children and grown-ups will enjoy a home-grown version of the scavenger hunt that have been so popular with young people. A list of clues for the treasures to be sought can be worked out by one of the family members. "Mom's war paint" sends the hunters pell-mell for a lipstick or the compact. "Straight and safety" should be enough of a clue to bring a common and a safety pin back to home base.

Dozens of variations of domestic treasure hunts can be worked out. If your family hasn't tried one recently, young and old alike will almost certainly "get a kick" out of a treasure hunt of your own. (Copyright, 1949, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

BILL'S PILL

Bill had a big pain in his tummy. It doubled him up and he felt like vomiting.

Mom gave him a pill. He felt better for a while then he felt worse.

Next day the doctor said that Bill's chances for appendicitis would have been much better without the pill.

Pain and tenderness under the vest pocket with nausea and maybe a little fever should mean no pill till the doctor comes.

Pain is usually a danger signal. It means to stop, look and listen.

If the trouble is appendicitis, medicine is usually harmful. It is safer to find out for sure.

Fear Crisis In England May Imperil Recovery

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—American officials are apprehensive today that the impending British crisis, when its extent becomes known, may imperil the European recovery program before Congress.

Figures are soon to be published showing the exact amount of dollars Britain possesses. This is expected to fall far short of the one billion 870 million dollars last reported on hand, and, consequently, even farther from the two billion dollars which has been computed as the "absolute minimum" required for Britain to maintain her economy.

Already some voices have been raised in England that the Marshall Plan has failed. These plaints are expected to reach a receptive ear among Congressional critics.

Efforts to find a solution for the problem were made last week in Paris among the representatives of the organization of European Economic Cooperation Powers. But this solution was a compromise and officials are doubtful of its efficacy.

It has become apparent that an answer will not be found in further dollar appropriations from Congress for the salvation of Britain. A substantial cut in appropriations for the European recovery program seems to be a more likely development in an economy-minded Congress.

Moreover, it appears that if the ERP has failed of its objective, Congress will be even more reluctant to provide the one billion 320 million dollars sought for a European rearmament program.

GUIDE, DON'T DOMINATE CHILD IN EARLY YEARS

Children need parents who have a desire to understand and guide them rather than to dominate. By nature, the child is neither fundamentally bad nor good, but has the capacity to be molded into either desirable or undesirable ways of acting.

There is a great deal for the child to learn and the patient guidance of an understanding parent is most helpful. Too often parents take the attitude that their child is determined to do everything he can to displease them.

This attitude sets parent and child against each other. The parent determines to force his child to comply and this attitude tends to make the parent overlook the child's needs and the child's ability to do what is wanted of him. The child then gets the feeling that this is a tough old world and he has to fight to protect himself.

Parents and children are urged to work together as partners instead of in opposition to each other. The result will be more pleasant and longer lasting. Remember, the child has many things to learn and needs help.

There are only a few years in which the parent can impart acceptable ways to the child. One of the child's greatest needs is to learn to live in the world as it is. The parent and child in partnership does not mean that the parent should never be firm or punish, for this is a part of guidance. Consistent discipline gives the child a feeling of security while laxness and a do-nothing attitude are detrimental.

PREPARE NOW TO CONTROL TOMATO BLIGHT

While weather conditions have not favored the development of tomato blight, now is the time to start control methods.

Tomato blight appears as irregular dark waters soaked spots on leaves. On fruits the spots are water-soaked and greasy, later they are green, blotched with brown.

Blight can be controlled by dusting or spraying with fixed copper. Use a dust containing 7 per cent copper, applying it every week. Sprays should contain about 1/2 ounce of actual copper per gallon, and should be applied every 10 days. When using a material containing 50 per cent metallic copper, use 2 1/2 ounce (about 3 level tablespoonsful) per gallon. Adjust the amount according to the content of the material.

When applying the material cover all the plant, including the bottoms of the leaves. Dust sticks better when the plants are wet with dew.

Blight does not cause rolling or yellowing of the leaves. Dry, hot weather often causes leaves to roll, while yellowing may be due to other diseases.

TOUGH GRAIN HEATS IF STORED IN BULK

Problems arising from wet weather may complicate the grain harvest, and the prudent farmer prepares for them. Grain with high moisture content requires careful, if not expert, handling. Otherwise its quality may be impaired, and that can mean a heavy farm loss.

Millers require wheat and other grain in good condition—sound and clean. Growers meeting these requirements can readily dispose of their crop.

If grain is too tough to store, send it at once to a mill, or other agency, having drying facilities. If drying facilities are unavailable, spread very tough wheat on the barn floor and turn often until dry. Otherwise, if grain seems tough after combining, or threshing from the field, hold it in burlap bags on the barn floor with air spaces between the sacks. Turn bags every day for a week or so to reduce danger of heating.

Never store grain in bulk until sure it is thoroughly dry. Then watch closely for signs of heating. If heat develops, remove the grain from the bin.

Hay-drying facilities may sometimes be adapted to drying grain in bins or bags. If in bags, pile them around an air flue or arrange them to form a flue.

MILK MAKES COOL REFRESHING DRINKS

Now is the time when cool, refreshing drinks are in the limelight and milk can be used as the basis of many summer drinks.

Nutrition surveys show that most people are low in calcium intake, especially adult women and teenage girls. In order to get sufficient calcium in the diet, the amount should be three glasses of milk per day.

A refreshing drink called pineapple milk punch is just as good as it sounds. To make the punch, mix together one cup of chilled pineapple juice and three tablespoons of sugar. Add this mixture slowly to one quart of cold milk while beating with a rotary egg beater. Serve at once.

For a party punch, make a frozen fruit ring in a large ring mold. Place colorful fruits—cherries, peaches, pears, or raspberries—in an attractive arrangement in the ring mold. Use mint or huckleberry leaves. Cover this mixture with water and freeze in your home freezer or refrigerator. When ready to serve the punch, unmold the fruit ring and place it in the punch bowl and pour in the pineapple milk mixture.

Other mild drinks, such as black cow, are also refreshing and teeming with food value. To make black cow, mix together 7/8 cups of cold milk, 1/4 cup of sugar, 2 1/2 tablespoons of root beer extract, and 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Beat with a rotary beater until well blended. Chill before serving. This recipe makes ten servings.

Further suggestions on milk drinks may be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Swellfish is one of the many names given fishes which inflate their bodies with air until they become globelike and the spines of their skin rigid.

New Jersey Plans Super-Highway

Will Connect New York With Pennsylvania's Super-Highway. It Is Announced

TRENTON, N. J., July 5.—Plans for a toll super-highway spanning the length of New Jersey were announced by Paul L. Troast, chairman of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority.

The 130-mile multi-lane speedway will run from New York's George Washington bridge in the north to Deepwater, N. J., across the Delaware river from Wilmington, Del., in the south.

Estimated cost is $200 million. It is expected to be the heaviest traveled highway in the nation.

With completion of the final branches of the Pennsylvania

Turnpike, it would provide a super-highway chain from New York to the mid-western plains of Ohio and Illinois.

In addition to New Jersey traffic, it would carry a tremendous volume of traffic to and from New York City and other points in that state, as well as to and from New England areas.

Because of problems in bringing the turnpike through highly-congested industrial sections, it is expected to be one of the most expensive construction projects ever built.

Dig Largest Coal Mine At Illinois Site

WALTONVILLE, Ill. — (INS) — Work is now in progress south of Waltonville on construction of the world's largest coal mine.

The mine, the Orient No. 3, is the property of the Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin Coal Company. Unlike the Orient No. 1 and 2, it is a slope mine. Both the No. 1 and 2 are shaft mines.

The mine is made up of two tubes that had already been driven 2,150 feet into the ground at a 16-degree angle from the horizontal. This vertical depth of 584 feet. The coal seam is 800 feet below the earth's surface.

Deposits Are Rich
The mine's underground workings are expected to cover an area of 14,000 acres of rich coal deposits.

A vertical shaft 615 feet deep has been sunk 2,850 feet west of the mouth of the slopes. Into this vertical shaft will go the shaft cages to take the men into and out of the mine.

Air from the surface will be forced by a ventilating fan down one slope and return to the surface through the other.

Four shifts of men, working around the clock are employed in sinking the twin slopes, which, after reaching the coal deposits, will be bottomed at the same place as the vertical shaft.

Chiang Kai Shek Says Communists Can Be Beaten

TSAOHSAN, Formosa, July 5. — (INS) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek declared today that the communists can still be beaten in China, but if the United States fails to help and China is completely overrun all Asia will fall to the reds and a third world war will be inevitable.

Chiang revealed dramatically that he will come out of semi-retirement to rally all of the forces at his command for a fight to the finish against the communists — a fight he predicted could and would be won.

MAP PATH OF FLU EPIDEMIC

BERKELEY, Cal. — (INS) — The nation's medical experts are employing a novel "listening post" technique in the battle against influenza.

The technique is based on the very thing that makes people say "the flu is going around," for outbreaks of the dreaded illness can actually be clearly traced on the map.

Experts know from past experience that a case of flu in Alaska may spread down the west coast and that an outbreak in Honolulu may jump to California and move inland.

Network Of Warning Posts
The state of California's Public Health Department viral and Rickettsia laboratory in Berkeley is just one of a vast number of "listening posts."

It reports its findings to the Influenza Information Center at Bethesda, Md.

Here, the path of any developing epidemic is plotted and if the danger warrants, the center sends out alerts to the states lying in the path of the disease.

If the alert is serious enough, mass vaccinations are called for. Not everyone is vaccinated, but the serum is made available and enough people are inoculated to create what the experts call a "herd immunity."

Maryland Driver Held In York Jail

YORK, Pa., July 5. — (INS) — A 23-year-old Maryland driver was in York county jail today in default of bail on an involuntary manslaughter charge stemming from the deaths of three young companions in a highway accident.

The driver, John T. Mooney, of Westminster, R. D., was treated for minor back injuries at the Hanover Hospital and then jailed. Two other companions also were injured.

The dead were identified as Garfield Harrell, 20, of Dover, R. D., Mildred Utz, of Westminster, R. D., and Janet Sheffer, 17, of Hanover, R. D.

Mooney told state police he dozed at the wheel on the Hanover-Baltimore road and his car crashed into a roadside tree near Hanover.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, July 5. — (INS) — All Hollywood columnists have guest columnists during vacations. I'm not on vacation but I should be. If I were on vacation today's guest columnist would be that idol of the bobby-sox brigade, John Dall.

So, without further ado (and while I climb into my shiny new $5,600 Cad convertible, which came equipped with three blonde movie starlets, and spin out to Santa Anita race track for the afternoon) meet our guest columnist:

Guest Columnist By JOHN DALL
(Noted Young Actor Writing Especially For Frank Neill)

HOLLYWOOD, July 5. — (INS) — I wonder if you gentle readers could be fixing to rob a bank. If you are, take my advice. Don't.

It's embarrassing. I know. I've just finished knocking over a brace of moolah marts, with the assistance of a blonde eye-fel named Peggy Cummins.

Sun Lovers
We play the larcenous lovers in a King Brothers film called "Gun Crazy." Both of us are handy with a rod in the film. I'm an ex-G.I. Peggy is a carnival sharpshooter. We set out to latch on to what we want, with bullets as the medium of exchange.

A good bit of the picture was shot in Montrose and Tarzana, Calif. Peggy and I "robbed" banks in both towns. Take it from me, it's a harrowing experience.

In Montrose, a scene required us to drive up to a bank with the camera rolling from the back seat of the sedan we were in. I jumped out and went into the bank, while the camera continued shooting Peggy. I was to wait inside several minutes till she finished her solo scene.

Little Nervous
I stepped into the bank with my guns in hand. Nobody but the bank officials had been tipped off. The girl clerks, typists and other personnel hadn't a notion I was coming. I felt kind of silly. Also, I was nervous that somebody'd get excited over the "stick-up."

Instead, a red-headed cashier who looked like Susan Hayward shifted her gum and said curiously: "Are you advertising something?"

"No," I said, a shade deflated. "It's a movie."

The red-head and a dozen other employees came to life then. "Who's in it?"

Peggy Clicks
"Peggy Cummins. She's outside now, playing a scene."

"Gee!" the red-head was thrilled. "Who's the male star—Clark Gable?" She was practically drooling.

"No..." how could I say, "I am"? Finally, I managed to gulp: "I... uh... I'm opposite her."

You couldn't call her disappointed. She was crushed. "You? Are you somebody new?"

"No, I saw him in 'Rope,'" said another gal. "He put the guy in the trunk."

"Ah, that wasn't him," a third denied scornfully. "The guy in the picture was better looking."

When I crept out of the bank, Peggy took one look and said: "Hey—your account can't be that much overdrawn!"

Nope, don't rob any banks, folks. It's too tough on the ego.

World Economy Is At Turning Point
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 5. — (INS) — The United Nations warned today that world economy is at a "turning point" following the post-war boom.

In the 117-page first volume of its economic report for 1948, the U.N. declared that there is a marked reversal of the upward world trend of prices, expansion or production, and peak employment.

The report called for international action to "raise the world level of economic activity and to counter possible recession."

Prepared for the use of the economic and social council, which meets in Geneva tomorrow, the report gives a detailed picture of production and trade over the world during 1948.

Its figures purportedly reveal that during 1948 industrial production accelerated more in the Soviet Union than in the U. S. or any of the western European States.

General Nicholas Herkimer's home, near Little Falls, N. Y., still stands to recall the general's courageous exploits in the Revolutionary war. Although fatally injured, he directed Mohawk Valley farmers to victory against Indians and Tories in the battle of Oriskany, August 6, 1777.

Death Bares Strange Story Of Woman In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 5. — (INS) — Death today bared the strange story of an aged woman recluse who chose to live like a beggar in a dingy, trash-filled row house in Philadelphia although she reportedly had a fortune at her command.

Mrs. Catherine S. Ritter, the 79-year-old eccentric, was found dead of natural causes on a debris-littered bed, but authorities said she was worth more than $200,000 and owned some 14 houses in Philadelphia. A diet of bread and milk apparently sustained her in a semi-starved condition despite her wealth, police reported.

Her ill-kept home was packed with many years' accumulation of rubbish and litter—paper, wood and cardboard junk.

Authorities said the nine rooms of Mrs. Ritter's home were stuffed with more trash than was found in the Fifth avenue mansion of Homer and Langley Collyer, two years ago in New York.

Five per cent of all accidental deaths each year are drownings.

Five Families Homeless From Homestead Fire

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 5. — (INS) — Five families were homeless today and 11 firemen suffered injuries in battling a four-hour blaze which caused $35,000 damage to a three-story Homestead building early yesterday.

A passerby noticed flames shooting from the Fischer building and his quick alarm alerted firemen and enabled some of the families to flee immediately. Others were rescued by firemen.

James Price, 23, volunteer fireman from nearby Munhall, was detained in the hospital with a fractured rib. The others were released after being treated for lacerations and ill effects of smoke.

President And Party Leaders Ponder Course

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—President Truman and his congressional leaders may reach a decision today on repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The congressional "big four" plans to confer with the chief executive at the White House. A discussion of the tangled labor situation in congress appears to be high on the agenda.

House leaders said the next step is up to the president and that it is for him to decide whether to continue to press for repeal in the face of house and senate setback. They said that two steps are open.

1. The president could call it quits for the 81st congress and drop the matter.

2. Mr. Truman could ask the house to act on the senate-approved labor bill.

Influential administration leaders in congress favor the second course. It is believed the president does also. Mr. Truman told a news conference after the senate passed a revised version of the GOP labor law that he wanted the fight for repeal continued.

PHILADELPHIA MAN SLUGGED AND ROBBED

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(INS)—Two bandits slugged the proprietor of a North Philadelphia real estate office today and escaped with $553.50.

Benjamin Sattler, 62, a woman employee and a customer were being herded into a back room at gun point by the thugs when Sattler decided to resist. He was struck several times on the head with the weapon.

Pittsburgher's Auto Is Burned

Sixth ward firemen were called to West State street, just outside the city limits, at 5:45 p. m., July 4, when an auto owned by Dr. Lester E. Lacock, of 2858 Perryville avenue, Pittsburgh caught fire.

City firemen knocked the blaze down and left the car in charge of Union township firemen who had also been summoned. Damage of around $400 was done, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reported.

Carnegie-Illinois Shuts Down Eighth District Furnace

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. reported today that the second blast furnace at its Edgar Thompson Works in Braddock has been blown out because of a lack of demand for iron.

The shutdown makes a total of eight furnaces the firm has blown out in various district plants in recent weeks.

No Clues Found In Recent Holdup

No clues have been found which would lead to the arrest of the two bandits who held up William Blattman, proprietor of Rohrer's Gun store, and after trying him up, robber him of $250. Police Chief Robert D. Hanna stated today.

The holdup occurred Friday, while Mr. Blattman was alone in the store.

Man Accused Of Molesting Girl Wounds Self

CANONSBURG, Pa., July 5.—(INS)—John Cain, 40, slated to face a grand jury for the third time on charges of molesting an 11-year-old girl, was reported in a fair condition from what police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

Police reported the Washington county roadhouse operator shot himself yesterday outside his "Glass Bar," near Bridgeville, after his business partner, Albert Refosco, failed in an attempt to disarm him.

Cain is accused of a morals charge involving a McDonald school girl. The case dates back several months.

The charge was ignored by the Washington County Grand Jury in November, 1948. It was reopened by demand of McDonald citizens, but was quashed last February because of a legal technicality.

Charges were brought for a third time by District Attorney Frank J. Docktor, who said that rape charges naming Cain would be presented the August grand jury.

AUTO FIRE

Fourth ward firemen were summoned to the 1200 block on East Washington street at 5:40 p. m., July 4, with the report that an auto was on fire. After they had left for the scene, a call was received stating that the fire was out. No action was required, Chief Steinbrink stated.

Firemen were called to Mill and Division streets at 11:58 p. m. Saturday, when the battery cable of an auto owned by Fred Lutz, of 718 Brinton avenue, shorted. Mr. Lutz suffered burns about the hands in trying to put out the fire, and was treated by firemen.

TUNA CHAMP CATCHES BIRD ON FLY

THIS IS REALLY a bird of a fish story, and with a picture to prove it. It seems that Walter McDonough, winner of last year's Maine tuna championship, was trolling off the New Jersey coast when a flock of birds went after his lure. One was hooked in the bill and, as shown here, turned out to be a shearwater, of the petrel family. (International)

Amendment To Bar Communist Teachers Ready

BOSTON, July 5.—(INS)—A controversial amendment to bar Communists from the teaching profession was readied today for presentation to the 37th convention of the National Education Association, representing 350,000 teachers.

William Saunders, New York high school instructor, was expected to introduce the amendment to the association's constitution. It would call for the resignation of all teachers who are Communists.

This development came on the heels of unanimous adoption by 800 delegates of a resolution opposing teacher loyalty oaths. Miss Hilda Maehling of Washington, executive secretary of the association, declared:

"If we are going to have loyalty oaths then everybody should have them. If you merely single out teachers then you naturally put the finger of suspicion on them."

Other resolutions included favoring of a pupil-teacher ratio of 25 to one, $2400 minimum salary and at least $600 for teachers with years' training and 15 years' experience.

SUCKER BAIT

The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois notes, as we had previously in these columns, that the votes of Georgia recently turned down a proposal to tax themselves 23 million dollars for improved schools. Under the proposed 300 million dollar federal school subsidy, Georgia would get about 14 millions, the federation's statistician finds. To put 300 millions into the federal treasury, Georgians would have to pay only $3,780,000. The Georgians, says the federation, are smart to wait for the federal hand-out, if they can get it.

Illinois would get about 7 1/2 millions under the same federal subsidy plan. To raise the 300 millions, it would have to pay about 21 millions in federal taxes.

The only conclusion that these facts allow is that any Illinois Congressman or Senator who votes for federal school aid is picking the pockets of his constituents.—Chicago Tribune.

$25,000 FIRE

NEW EGYPT, N. J., July 5.—(INS)—A $25,000 fire last night destroyed a barn on the farm of Frank Robson, five miles from New Egypt.

The flames were fed by 2,000 bales of hay and ruined machinery and dairy equipment.

The claim of Samuel Higley, in 1728, that he had "with great pains and cost found out and obtained a curious art by which to convert, change or transmute common iron into good steel, sufficient for any use, and was the very first that ever performed such an operation in America, is now supported by historians.

If it costs you more than you can get out of it, it's probably socialism.—Decatur, Ill., Herald.

Report Pittsburgh Suit Against Cab Co. Is Dismissed

HARRISBURG, July 5.—(INS)—Dismissal of the City of Pittsburgh's complaint against the proposed tariff boost proposed by the Peoples Cab Co., of Pittsburgh, was reported today by the Public Utility Commission.

The fares will not produce an excessive return as alleged by the city, the PUC asserted.

The fares, in effect since July 3, 1948, boosted the firm's annual revenue $128,000 a year.

The commission said the company's annual return will be approximately $5,232.

The PUC said the rate increase amounted approximately to 33 1-3 per cent.

When you walk uphill you are lifting your weight against the force of gravity, which takes power. If you weigh 150 pounds and run uphill in one minute far enough so that you rise a vertical distance of 10 feet, you are in the process of consuming about one-twentieth of a horsepower in lifting your weight.

President To Send Mid-Year Report To Congress Soon

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—The White House said today that President Truman will send his mid-year report on the condition of the nation's economy to congress in about a week.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the report is in virtually finished form. It is scheduled to be sent to Congress by July 11. The president worked on the report, which is expected to be about 1,200 words in length, during his weekend cruise on the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay.

ERIE WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Of interest to friends and relatives here is the wedding of Miss Norma Elizabeth Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. Hamilton of Erie, formerly of New Castle, and Kenneth Linn Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Stewart of Washington, Pa. The ceremony was performed at 7 p. m. on June 30 in the Wallace Memorial chapel, Westminster college, New Wilmington. The Rev. Frank C. Black, D.D., pastor of the Central U. P. church of Omaha, Neb., officiated at the double ring ceremony. Appropriate music was played throughout the entire evening.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin with a sweetheart neckline edged with pearls and crystal beads. The bodice was fitted and lace trimmed at the waist line. The very full skirt fell into a long sweeping train. Her fingertip veil of illusion extended from a tiara of orange blossoms. The only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a white cascade of roses, poms and stephanotis, centered with gardenias.

Miss Carolyn Holub, organist, played a number of selections. Miss Judy Wilkinson, soloist, sang nuptial music.

Miss Jean Hamilton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a lime green satin gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and had a matching headpiece.

James Hodges, fraternity brother of the groom, was best man. George Hamilton, brother of the bride, and Frank Ruth were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, in the United Presbyterian church parlors in New Wilmington, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to a Pocono mountain resort.

The bride, a graduate of Westminster college, has been teaching the past semester at an Erie school.

The groom, also a Westminster graduate, will enter Xenia Theological Seminary in the fall.

Her aunts, Mrs. Edward Owens, Mrs. Arthur Owens and Mrs. J. S. Wilkison, all of New Castle, recently held a pre-nuptial shower in her honor.

WROTE TO DEWEY ABOUT MURDER

ANTHONY JAVARONE, 64, is arraigned in Philadelphia magistrate's court on charge of violating the firearms act. Police nabbed Javarone when they traced a letter sent to New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, signed by Javarone, stating the wrong man had been electrocuted for a homicide several years ago. Handwriting appeared similar to several letters to the New York City prosecuting attorney which discussed several unsolved murders. They were signed Tony Dimarco. When arrested Javarone was holding target practice in basement of his home. (International Soundphoto)

Little Red School House Ideas Are Called Obsolete

BOSTON, July 5.—(INS)—The superintendent of Georgia schools advised teachers and the public today to "jolt ourselves loose from obsolete ideas inherited from the horse-and-buggy era of the little red school house."

Otherwise, said Dr. M. D. Collins, Atlanta, Ga., the nation and the world can look forward only "to new dark ages." Dr. Collins addressed 5,000 delegates to the 28th convention of the National Educational association in Boston.

Dr. Collins is regarded as the probably choice of the delegates for president when elections are held Friday.

Among the problems facing teachers, he said, is "how to capture economic self-respect so they will not need to combine the oath of loyalty with a personal vow of poverty."

DROWNED AT PICNIC
MONT ALTO, Pa., July 5.—(INS)—Frederick Frazer, 23, of Pen Mar, Md., drowned last night in a pool at Mont Alto State Park while on a picnic with his fiancée, Jeanne Smith of Waynesboro.

His body was discovered by George Shockey, of Mont Alto, who stepped on it while wading in three feet of water.

Frazer, an experienced under water swimmer, was pronounced dead two and a half hours after his body was removed from the pool.

Field rations for U. S. soldiers are figured to supply 5,000 calories a day to each man.

Forecasters Busy
On F. D. R. Jr. Now

May Have Spectacular Political Career Is Prediction Of Some Experts

OTHER NEWS OF
NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The political experts already are projecting the triumph of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., in winning the House seat of the late Rep. Sol Bloom (D), New York, far into the future.

The experts regard the smashing triumph of the son of the late president as the beginning of a new political career sparked by the "magic" of the Roosevelt name.

Young Roosevelt's victory did not surprise anyone, not even Tammany Hall, which has been losing ground rapidly in New York and sinking to a whisper of its former tigerish roar.

Beyond the congressional seat, the best informed politicians in Washington see eventually the governor's mansion in Albany for young FDR. Perhaps they say, when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey steps down, for they then expect New York to return to its traditional Democratic status.

Then, the experts say, there is the Senate. If not that, they are sure the time will come some years hence when they can run another Roosevelt for the White House.

They admit much will depend on FDR, Jr.'s record in Congress and afterward. But they do not conceal their belief that his growing resemblance to the elder Roosevelt is a great political asset among those who loved FDR, Sr.

FLYING BOX CARS ON SCHEDULE

A recent Civil Aeronautics Board decision authorizing four airlines to haul freight, and freight alone, marked a milestone in American aviation history.

Now for the first time the "flying freight cars" are placed on "timetable" operation in competition with the nation's regularly-scheduled passenger airlines, which also carry freight.

The "old line" airlines bitterly fought the CAB decision. They maintained they could haul all the freight that public demand requires.

However, the assenting majority declared the decision would provide a thorough test which would help chart the future of air cargo transportation.

One of the two dissenting members expressed fear that if the "flying box cars" proved uneconomical, the government would have to subsidize them, thus imposing a new drain on the taxpayer.

However, the majority said that during the five-year trial period the four companies would have operating costs, knowing that if every incentive to achieve low costs they do not, their licenses will be revoked.

"G" GAL'S

Rep. Katherine St. George (R), New York, is trying to work out a formula that will enable bright young government girls to advance as rapidly as they would in private business.

Mrs. St. George feels that government gals have lots of ability but that it isn't brought out in the stereotyped civil service written examinations.

She thinks the solution is oral examination of job applicants to discover character and personality traits that will help the jobholder to promotions in government employment.

BAN ON SECRETARIES

The brown leather sofas and easy chairs in the rear of the Senate chamber have been sparsely occupied in the last few days—an unusual situation.

The story is that House members who recently crossed the Capitol to listen to Senate debate were disgruntled to discover all the good seats taken by senatorial assistants.

Their complaints led Chairman Carl Hayden (D), Arizona, of the Senate rules committee, to ask his colleagues to keep their secretaries and administrative assistants off the floor. Hayden's memo asked that they use the galleries from which to observe proceedings.

Some senators resented the memo but did not do anything about it.

DEAN EMERITUS DIES

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 5.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow at State College for Ralph Levi Watts, 80, dean emeritus of the Pennsylvania State college school of agriculture, who died Saturday night at his home.

He retired from the faculty in 1939 after serving 30 years. He was named dean in 1912. Born on a farm near Clearfield, Watts enrolled at Penn State in 1886 using $100 in gold his mother had saved. Only two other boys were enrolled in agriculture when he started but upon his retirement the school embraced more than 1,200 students.

Seek Identity
Of Successor
To Eisler In U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—House spy hunters disclosed today that an intensive search is under way to learn the identity of the successor of Gerhardt Eisler as the secret Moscow-assigned leader of the Communist party in the U. S.

They listed disclosure of the unknown agent as one of the major objectives of the house un-American activities committee this session.

A committee source said that the present cominform agent is the second to be sent to the United States since Eisler's role was revealed more than two years ago by the house group.

At that time, Louis Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker who broke with the party, listed Eisler as the No. 1 communist in the United States and declared he was assigned by the Soviet government to direct red activities in this country.

Eisler earlier this year jumped bail and escaped from the United States to Czechoslovakia.

Enlistments In
Army And Air
Force On Quotas

In an interview today, M-Sgt. Charles P. Walsh, of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Principal Recruiting Station, announced that enlistments in the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force would be on a quota basis for the month of July. Therefore, he urges young men interested in the opportunities offered by the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force to contact their recruiting officer as soon as possible.

The need for manpower in the regular army is increasing daily, however, the physical and mental standards for the army are today at the highest level in our nation's history, indicating that the army is highly selective. This, Sgt. Walsh states, is due to the fact that today's army is highly technical. To young men who are alert, ambitious and desire an interesting career field, the regular army holds forth many advantages that cannot be obtained in private industry.

For further information concerning the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force contact the Recruiting Officer, Room 202, Post Office building, New Castle, or telephone 4745.

ERIE WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Of interest to friends and relatives here is the wedding of Miss Norma Elizabeth Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. Hamilton of Erie, formerly of New Castle, and Kenneth Linn Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Stewart of Washington, Pa. The ceremony was performed at 7 p. m. on June 30 in the Wallace Memorial chapel, Westminster college, New Wilmington. The Rev. Frank C. Black, D.D., pastor of the Central U. P. church of Omaha, Neb., officiated at the double ring ceremony. Appropriate music was played throughout the entire evening.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin with a sweetheart neckline edged with pearls and crystal beads. The bodice was fitted and lace trimmed at the waist line. The very full skirt fell into a long sweeping train. Her fingertip veil of illusion extended from a tiara of orange blossoms. The only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a white cascade of roses, poms, and stephanotis, centered with gardenias.

Miss Carolyn Holub, organist, played a number of selections. Miss Judy Wilkinson, soloist, sang nuptial music.

Miss Jean Hamilton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a lime green satin gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and had a matching headpiece.

James Hodges, fraternity brother of the groom, was best man. George Hamilton, brother of the bride, and Frank Ruth were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, in the United Presbyterian church parlors in New Wilmington, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to a Pocono mountain resort.

The bride, a graduate of Westminster college, has been teaching the past semester at an Erie school.

The groom, also a Westminster graduate, will enter Xenia Theological Seminary in the fall.

Her aunts, Mrs. Edward Owens, Mrs. Arthur Owens and Mrs. J. S. Wilkison, all of New Castle, recently held a pre-nuptial shower in her honor.

WROTE TO DEWEY ABOUT MURDER

ANTHONY JAVARONE, 64, is arraigned in Philadelphia magistrate's court on charge of violating the firearms act. Police nabbed Javarone when they traced a letter sent to New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, signed by Javarone, stating the wrong man had been electrocuted for a homicide several years ago. Handwriting appeared similar to several letters to the New York City prosecuting attorney which discussed several unsolved murders. They were signed Tony Dimarco. When arrested Javarone was holding target practice in basement of his home. (International Soundphoto.)

Little Red School House Ideas Are Called Obsolete

BOSTON, July 5.—(INS)—The superintendent of Georgia schools advised teachers and the public today to "jolt ourselves loose from obsolete ideas inherited from the horse-and-buggy era of the little red school house."

Otherwise, said Dr. M. D. Collins, Atlanta, Ga., the nation and the world can look forward only "to new dark ages." Dr. Collins addressed 5,000 delegates to the 28th convention of the National Educational association in Boston. Dr. Collins is regarded as the probably choice of the delegates for president when elections are held Friday.

Among the problems facing teachers, he said, is "how to capture economic self-respect so they will not need to combine the oath of loyalty with a personal vow of poverty."

DROWNED AT PICNIC
MONT ALTO, Pa., July 5.—(INS)—Frederick Frazer, 23, of Pen Mar, Md., drowned last night in a pool at Mont Alto State Park while on a picnic with his fiancée, Jeanne Smith of Waynesboro, Va. His body was discovered by George Shockey, of Mont Alto, who stepped on it while wading in three feet of water.

Frazer, an experienced under water swimmer, was pronounced dead two and a half hours after his body was removed from the pool.

Forecasters Busy
On F. D. R. Jr. Now

May Have Spectacular Political Career Is Prediction Of Some Experts

OTHER NEWS OF
NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The political experts already are projecting the triumph of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., in winning the House seat of the late Rep. Sol Bloom (D), New York, far into the future.

The experts regard the smashing triumph of the son of the late president as the beginning of a new political career sparked by the "magic" of the Roosevelt name.

Young Roosevelt's victory did not surprise anyone, not even Tammany Hall, which has been losing ground rapidly in New York and sinking to a whisper of its former tigerish roar.

Beyond the congressional seat, the best informed politicians in Washington see eventually the governor's mansion in Albany for young FDR. Perhaps, they say, when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey steps down, for they then expect New York to return to its traditional Democratic status.

Then, the experts say, there is the Senate. If not that, they are sure the time will come some years hence when they can run another Roosevelt for the White House.

They admit much will depend on FDR, Jr.'s, record in Congress and afterward. But they do not conceal their belief that his growing resemblance to the elder Roosevelt is a great political asset among those who loved FDR, Sr.

FLYING BOX CARS ON SCHEDULE

A recent Civil Aeronautics Board decision authorizing four airlines to haul freight, and freight alone, marked a milestone in American aviation history.

Now for the first time the "flying box cars" are placed on "timetable" operation in competition with the nation's regularly-scheduled passenger airlines, which also carry freight.

The "old line" airlines bitterly fought the CAB decision. They maintained they could haul all the freight that public demand requires.

However, the assenting majority declared the decision would provide a thorough test which would help chart the future of air cargo transportation.

One of the two dissenting members expressed fear that if the "flying box cars" proved uneconomical, the government would have to subsidize them, thus imposing a new drain on the taxpayer.

However, the majority said that during the five-year trial period the four companies would have operating costs, knowing that if every incentive to achieve low they do not, their licenses will be revoked.

"G" GALS
Rep. Katherine St. George (R), New York, is trying to work out a formula that will enable bright young government girls to advance as rapidly as they would in private business.

Mrs. St. George feels that government gals have lots of ability but that it isn't brought out in the stereotyped civil service written examinations.

She thinks the solution is oral examination of job applicants to discover character and personality traits that will help the jobholder to promotions in government employment.

BAN ON SECRETARIES
The brown leather sofas and easy chairs in the rear of the Senate chamber have been sparsely occupied in the last few days—an unusual situation.

The story is that House members who recently crossed the Capitol to listen to Senate debate were disgruntled to discover all the good seats taken by senatorial assistants.

Their complaints led Chairman Carl Hayden (D), Arizona, of the Senate rules committee, to ask his colleagues to keep their secretaries and administrative assistants off the floor.

Hayden's memo asked that they use the galleries from which to observe proceedings.

Some senators resented the memo but did not do anything about it.

DEAN EMERITUS DIES
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 5.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow at State College for Ralph Levi Watts, 80, dean emeritus of the Pennsylvania State college school of agriculture, who died Saturday night at his home.

He retired from the faculty in 1939 after serving 30 years. He was named dean in 1912. Born on a farm near Clearfield, Watts enrolled at Penn State in 1886 using $100 in gold his mother had saved. Only two other boys were enrolled in agriculture when he started but upon his retirement the school embraced more than 1,200 students.

Seek Identity
Of Successor
To Eisler In U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—House spy hunters disclosed today that an intensive search is underway to learn the identity of the successor of Gerhardt Eisler as the secret Moscow-assigned leader of the Communist party in the U. S.

They listed disclosure of the unknown agent as one of the major objectives of the house un-American activities committee this session.

A committee source said that the present cominform agent is the second to be sent to the United States since Eisler's role was revealed more than two years ago by the house group.

At that time, Louis Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker who broke with the party, listed Eisler as the No. 1 communist in the United States and declared he was assigned by the Soviet government to direct red activities in this country.

Eisler earlier this year jumped bail and escaped from the United States to Czechoslovakia.

Enlistments In
Army And Air
Force On Quotas

In an interview today, M-Sgt. Charles P. Walsh, of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Principal Recruiting Station, announced that enlistments in the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force would be on a quota basis for the month of July. Therefore, he urges young men interested in the opportunities offered by the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force to contact their recruiting officer as soon as possible.

The need for manpower in the regular army is increasing daily, however, the physical and mental standards for the army are today at the highest level in our nation's history, indicating that the army is highly selective. This, Sgt. Walsh states, is due to the fact that today's army is highly technical. To young men who are alert, ambitious and desire an interesting career field, the regular army holds forth many advantages that cannot be obtained in private industry.

For further information concerning the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force contact the Recruiting Officer, Room 202, Post Office building, New Castle, or telephone 4745.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

When Henry Hoyns, chairman of the board of Harper and Brothers, died at the age of seventy-six, there died with him the last and, in many ways, the finest example of a publishing era whose like will never be seen again.

To the end Hoyns was a man who believed in old-fashioned dignity, precision, integrity and attention to detail. Not for him the flamboyant publicity tricks of the forties or dangerous philosophy of "What's the difference how much it costs? The government is paying most of it anyway!" One morning he okayed, in twenty minutes, a publishing venture for Harpers that involved a quarter of a million dollars, and immediately thereafter disappeared into his private office with a Midwestern salesman to check over an expense account.

The salesman swears that Henry told him, "No luncheon in Des Moines could possibly have cost you three seventy unless you had two portions of dessert!"

Thousands At Cascade Park On Fourth Of July

Park Facilities Taxed To Capacity As Area Residents Seek To Escape Hot Weather

New Castle, Lawrence county and tri-state residents stamped Cascade Park and its facilities on Monday, it was reported today by Chris Coulthard, manager of the park. It was the biggest Fourth of July enjoyed in many years at the park, Coulthard told a News man.

No accidents were reported to the park office during the day. Not even a burning from fireworks which might have been brought into the park was reported.

The pool drew the banner attendance record with hundreds awaiting their turn to avail themselves of its cool refreshing atmosphere. Ice cream and pop stands drew the second largest crowd with extra supplies having to be secured to satiate the thirst of the parched throats of the park visitors. Other concessions about the park operated steadily throughout the day and late into the night until the closing hour near midnight.

Hundreds of sandwiches, mountains of potato salad, baked beans, and other foods were consumed in the grove by those bringing their baskets while they enjoyed the day. Every available eating space in the picnic area of the park was taken. Cool refreshing water of the grove aided in slacking the thirst of those who made use of it.

Parking facilities at the park were overtaxed with motorists forced to use various streets adjacent to the park to park their cars. The park superintendent expresses his appreciation to the public in general for the fine manner in which they cooperated during the season's busiest period at Cascade Park.

MINERS BREAK LONG TRADITION

pletes his negotiations with the bituminous operators. The United Mine Workers' chief resumes talks July 12 on an agreement to replace the contract that expired June 30. Lewis ordered the three-day schedule to "stabilize" the industry, and has hinted that it need not be adhered to rigidly.

Some May Be Bailed

Some 7,000 soft coal miners in Western Pennsylvania may be bailed in their attempt to return to work without a contract. Two of the largest producers in the area have sent their supervisors on vacation, confident the miners would not return to the pits without a new wage agreement.

The United Mine Workers Journal said the miners "are realistic, and when the occasion requires, the work week can be lengthened a day or two days."

The publication said that it will take about 20 weeks to reduce the present 75-million stockpile of coal above ground to a reserve of about 25 million tons.

Condemned By Industry

Lewis' three-day week order has been condemned by the soft coal industry as an "illegal" and "wrong" action. Most pit owners have posted the usual four or five day schedule in the mines.

The industry-browed UMW president will confer with anthracite representatives in Philadelphia Thursday in separate contract negotiations. The three-day work week order does not affect hard coal miners, who have a voluntary allocation system, basing production on demand.

Pollock Avenue Has Doll Show

Dolls of all descriptions were displayed at a show held at the Pollock Playground, on Friday, July 1.

First prize went to Angeline Cioppa, for the prettiest doll. Adeleine Ludovic captured second prize for having the oddest doll, and third prize was awarded to Donna DeMatteo, for her small doll.

Judges were Jerry Nativio, Dick Ross, and Frank Cubellis.

Basketball games were played on Friday afternoon.

Seven Killed Over Weekend In Rural Traffic Accidents

HARRISBURG, July 5.—(INS)—State police today reported the deaths of seven persons in traffic accidents on rural highways in Pennsylvania during the Independence Day weekend.

The three-day rural road total was five below the 1948 toll.

Day-by-day deaths were: Saturday, three; Sunday, four; Monday, none.

State police did not compile urban road deaths which undoubtedly will push the total higher when coordinated with the rural report.

HOLIDAY PERIOD DEATH TOLL SOARS TO NEW RECORD

deaths—5 in highway accidents, 7 by drowning and 4 of miscellaneous reasons.

Five died in traffic crashes in Arkansas and 20 persons drowned. Kentucky reported 16 deaths, Virginia 15, and Louisiana 10.

Gale In New York

At least seven persons in the New York area were killed when a 50-mile-an-hour gale raced in from the Atlantic, capsizing more than 300 small craft along the coast and whipping up a dust storm in the drought-stricken metropolis. The three-day total shattered the previous all-time July 4th holiday record of 628 deaths in 1941. Last year, 578 persons were killed in the three-day holiday weekend.

In the Midwest, Indiana reported 29 deaths and Illinois listed 18. Only five persons died in the Chicago area—3 by drowning, 1 in a traffic accident and 1 a victim of the city's sizzling 96-degree heat.

In Washington, 20 deaths, including 8 traffic fatalities, were reported. Oregon listed 5 dead, three in highway mishaps.

Had Predicted 600

The National Safety Council had predicted that 600 persons would die during the second long holiday of the year. The forecast estimated that 290 persons would lose their lives in traffic accidents before the three-day holiday rush ended.

An estimated 33 million motorists jammed highways over the weekend. The total increased as thousands fled sweltering cities to seek relief from the heat.

Boston and Washington reported the mercury hit 100. New York, rainless for 40 days, baked at 96 degrees. The thermometer reached 96 in Chicago and 94 in Detroit. Philadelphia sizzled at 97.

The hot weather led to an unprecedented total of drownings when beaches and lake resorts reported capacity crowds.

Some relief was promised for midwestern state, where a cold air mass moving southward through Minnesota and Wisconsin was expected to bring cooling thunder-showers by tomorrow night.

Rail, bus and air terminals reported capacity loads in the home-ward rush.

intentions and embrace a policy of full cooperation within the framework of the United Nations."

The treaty, signed in Washington April 4, pledges the United States, Canada and 10 European nations to consider an attack against one an attack against all and to take joint action against aggression.

Opponents charge that this provision commits the United States to war without action by Congress. This is due to be the crux of the Senate battle over the alliance. Connally declared:

"I challenge anyone to find such a commitment. The full authority of Congress to declare war with all the discretion that implies, remains unimpaired. This is not the view of the United States alone; it is the understanding of all the signatories."

Connally spoke in the old Supreme court chamber in the capitol, where 35 senators 128 years ago weighed the merits of the Monroe doctrine. Connally, arguing an analogous issue on a bigger scale to a larger Senate, declared that the pact is "a flaming sign to any aggressor that contemplates armed attack: 'do not enter the North Atlantic area.'"

J. Vivian Truman is in a Kansas City hospital. Physicians said a preliminary examination indicated he suffered a slight concussion and back and head injuries.

Report Woman Had Jumped In Creek

Police Officers Walter Tewell and Clark Davis, and city firemen were sent to the Franklin bridge, over the Pennsylvania railroad, near the United Engineering and Foundry Co. plant, at 8:40 p. m. Monday, when it was reported a woman had jumped into the Shenango river.

On arriving, the police found the woman had been fishing at the spot with her husband, and had let herself down from the bridge with her hands, and had dropped to the ground below.

Gen. Devers Makes Fourth Address

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(INS)—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief of the army field forces, warns that the installments on freedom and independence, met from Lexington through Okinawa, may never be paid.

Devers' remarks were made in a message delivered at a July Fourth celebration at the Washington Monument grounds.

The general declared that in 1947 "we cherish freedom and independence not only because they have been the key to our national existence but because they have been so dearly bought."

Devers said the world looks to the United States for guidance because this country pioneered the democratic way of life. He added that "any defection on our part will injure this cause throughout the world."

Jackie Robinson Worth Three Times As Much As Dodgers Are Paying Him

By JOHN GOLIGHTLY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Jackie Robinson is about the best player in baseball today, yet his reported salary does not exceed $14,000.

Admittedly an argument could be sustained in Boston, St. Louis and maybe one other city about rating Robinson above Ted Williams or Stan Musial. But only Branch Rickey, the Dodger president, possibly will argue that Robinson is not underpaid. Brother Rickey writes the checks.

Rickey, a gentleman with a conscience so severe that he refuses to attend Sunday ball games, just doesn't discuss the matter. He can blithely overlook Robinson's lead in batting, runs batted in, runs, hits and a respectable stolen base and extra base hit total.

Worth More Money
All this merely entitles Robinson to a better salary. But his fan-pulling ability is an irrefutable argument that the Negro second baseman should be paid three times his present rate.

He started it in the spring as the main attraction when the Brooks drew some 250,000 fans to exhibition games and the record crowds continued all around the National League circuit this summer.

Brooklyn Manager Burt Shotton doesn't share Rickey's reticence. "Why, he's my best," Shotton says outright. "Never complains and never gets hurt. And furthermore, we're very proud of him. He's a true gentleman."

Fine Record
That's a great combination for $14,000. And Robinson is the best player on a great ball club—a club which has the personnel to go on and establish a baseball dynasty.

Against the Pirates this season, Jackie has 15 hits in 32 times at bat (.468), 15 runs batted in and four homers.

The three-day demonstration Brooklyn staged at Forbes Field over the weekend knocked 50 per cent of the shade value from the trees beyond the left field wall.

ore up a lot of grass in the outfield and left the Pirate pitching staff cowering in the shower.

The Bucs, it seems, were guilty of a human error. They tried—and did, 4-2, on two hits—to win the opener. Brooklyn had set its heart on four soft victories and a return to New York with a workable first place lead. Crossing them was disastrous.

Before the barrage subsided, Outfielders Kiner, Restelli and Westlake were bow-legged and flannel-mouthed from the busiest afternoons in many a year. Thirty-nine Dodger hits were good for 32 runs in 18 innings.

Plain Homicide
Fortunately rain and the Pennsylvania curfew halted the second tilt of Sunday's double-header or Bill Meyer, the Pirate manager, might have had to quell a mutinous pitching staff which reasoned risking homicide was not included in its contract.

Brooklyn picked on Bob Chenes, Pittsburgh's lone claim to an ace rating, in the beginning and after it was over only Vic Lombardi had not trod the rubber in the series.

Record Crowd
Pirate fans, who have earned an everlasting right to the title, "Faithful," seemed to eat it up. Something like 94,000 of them took in the three games to push the total for 31 home games on 28 appearances at Forbes Field to 695,848—about 115,000 over last year's record attendance.

Sunday's 39,548 was the season's high at the Oakland orchard.

Fifth Person Dies Of Injuries From Falling Building

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—A fifth person died today of injuries suffered when a wall of a northside Pittsburgh building collapsed burying its victims under 15 tons of mortar and bricks.

Three persons were reported in a serious condition, and 14 others escaped with minor injuries last night when a six-foot parapet collapsed with a terrifying roar trapping unsuspecting pedestrians.

Harrisburg Fire Damage $140,000

HARRISBURG, July 5.—(INS)—A $140,000 general alarm fire today gutted a warehouse, destroyed 80 electric refrigerators and other electrical equipment plus seven trucks.

Of undetermined origin the blaze was battled by 15 city fire companies and others from suburban communities for two and one half hours. Eight firemen were injured or overcome by smoke.

The fire was discovered by a passing taxicab driver, Richard E. Platts, of New Cumberland, who notified his office through the cab's two-way radio.

A. C. Horner, president of the firm which owns the warehouse, estimated stock loss at approximately $100,000. Damage to the building was set at about $40,080.

LEAVE TODAY ON EXTENDED TRIP

Rev. and Mrs. Earl Collins and family of R. D. 1, left today on an extended vacation trip through the west including proposed visits to Black Hills, Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest. They expect to travel on famed route 66 and visit at Winslow, Arizona, at the proposed site for the Begay Navajo Mission of which Rev. Collins is chairman of the Board of directors.

A highlight of the trip will be a visit to the home of Mrs. Collins' brother, Ira Houk in San Francisco, whom she has not seen in six years. The family also expects to visit Rev. Charles Fuller and his old fashioned revival hour, in Long Beach. Rev. Collins will resume his duties here on Sunday, August 7.
